MUCOKEHL – successful treatment when used externally

by Dr Hilbert Seeger, M. D.

About a year ago a 79-year-old man came to see me at my surgery and asked whether we might have a remedy which would heal ulcerations and save him having to undergo an operation.

On taking his case history we learnt that he had been suffering for some years from recurrent basaliomas on the bald part of his head and that the dermatologist had treated these again and again with cryotherapy.

Now a circular ulceration had developed which was approx. 3.5 cm across and would not heal. It was planned to treat this by surgery and a skin transplant.

Picture 1 shows the patient's condition at the first consultation, with multiple incrustations following treatment with cryotherapy and the non-healing ulceration.

I prescribed 8 drops of MUCOKEHL to be rubbed in 3 times a day on the affected area and 60 drops of SANUVIS to be taken orally 3 times a day.

Picture 2 shows the patient's condition 4 weeks after the start of treatment with MUCOKEHL.

The ulceration which was to have been treated by surgical means has almost completely healed.

In the meantime the patient had again gone to see the dermatologist to show him how well MUCOKEHL had worked. Despite this the dermatologist had again treated him with cryotherapy which had caused the additional ulcerated lesions.

The patient then decided that he would only have the lesions treated with MUCOKEHL.

Picture 3 shows the patient's condition a further 2 weeks later.

Picture 4 shows the patient's condition following 8 weeks' external application of MUCOKEHL.

The patient continues to rub 8 drops of MUCOKEHL onto his scalp twice a day.

Using this form of treatment, no new basaliomas have appeared for almost a year.
